++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Some warm sunshine on Saturday. Turning unsettled thereafter.

Today:
A fine and dry day with light winds and plenty of sunshine, though occasionally hazy. The odd shower cannot be ruled out, particularly in the west. Low cloud may also linger around coastal areas in Kent and East Sussex. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming increasingly cloudy with showers spreading erratically northwards during the evening. Mist and fog forming in places later in the night, dense near Kent coasts. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Sunday:
Bright spells developing in the morning, warm but feeling humid. Showers then spreading north in the afternoon, often heavy and organised in longer spells of rain. Breezy on south coasts. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Changeable, often cloudy through the period, with bands of rain or showers, locally heavy and potentially thundery. Warm by day but feeling humid. Perhaps drier and brighter on Wednesday.
